Wine description

Situated in the very south of the Mâconnais region, the Saint-Véran vineyards form a belt around Pouilly-Fuissé. The area's Jurassic chalk soil and the vineyard's ideal exposure combine perfectly to produce top quality fruit. Saint-Véran 'Les Deux Moulins' takes its name from the two watermills that straddle La Petite Grosne river. The rain that falls on the vineyards, filters through the calcareous bedrock to help feed the river as it flows away west towards the monastic town of Cluny.

Tasting note

This Saint-Véran "Les Deux Moulins" 2012 is of an elegant pale yellow color. On the nose, charming floral aromas release, laced with subtle notes of honeysuckle. On tasting, the wine is round and offers a lovely sappiness, lifted by softer muscat-like hints.
