Wine description

This village of Volnay sits high above the Burgundian plain just a stones throw away from its neighbour Pommard. From the villages square its possible to look across the region as far as the snow capped Mont Blanc. The wines are elegant and well-structured with delicate red and black fruits of the forest flavours and a floral bouquet said to resemble violets.

Tasting note

A delicious red Burgundy. Elegant aromas of cherry, blackberry and violets are followed by a medium bodied palate with structured yet elegant tannins and crispish acidity. Rounded berry fruits and hint of smoke are found on the palate. The finish is long and elegant.
