Wine description

Lying just up the hillside from the escarpment of Beaune, the vine-growing areas of Savigny-lès-Beaune fall into two areas. The first is in the south adjacent to Beaune and the other is in the north bordering on the appellation of Aloxe-Corton. The wines of Savigny are very like those of Beaune, with a remarkable blackcurrant and strawberry bouquet.

Tasting note

The Savigny-lès-Beaune Red 2009 shows a powerful bouquet of black cherry, blackcurrant and raspberry with earthy undertones. In the mouth, the wine has richness and structure, with smooth tannins.
